The disclosure obligation is implemented in Norwegian law in collecting Regulations 17 September 2013 No. 1092 on third party disclosure. Historical returns are no guarantee of future returns. Future returns will depend, among other things, on market developments, the manager's skills, the fund's risk, as well as the costs of subscription, management, and redemption. The return may be negative because of price losses. The fund's return can vary within a year. The individual unit holder's loss or gain will therefore depend on the exact times of purchase and sale of the units. The effective interest rate may change from day to day and is therefore no guarantee of the return in the period for which it is intended. Exchange rate fluctuations will affect the value of the fund if underlying investments are made in a currency other than that in which the fund is listed.
